This project is planned to take place from March 1 through May 31, 2016. The source energy will be explosive charge or vibration and will be recorded using Global's AutoSeis™ Land HDR patented autonomous nodal acquisition systems. The seismic source (shot) holes will be approximately three inches in diameter and will be drilled to a target depth of 35 feet. Explosive charges will be spaced at 110 feet apart and recorders units will be spaced approximately 330 feet apart. The planned charge size is 1.1 kg (2.4 lbs.) or 2.2 kg (4.9 lbs.) depending on testing results. Access to the project site will be via existing roads where possible. Snow machines will be used for off-road access. In the event that there is insufficient snow cover, all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) such as Kubota RTVs may be used.

Location Description: The proposed areas of seismic survey area are located on the Kenai Peninsula between milepost 127 and 165 off the Sterling Highway. See map at the link below or contact the Division for a description.

The application package is available for review at the Division's Permitting Section, 550 West 7th Avenue, Suite 800, Anchorage, Alaska 99501 or online at <http://www.dog.dnr.alaska.gov/Permitting/Permitting.htm#permittingnotices>.
